

Paul Miller
Senior Director of Strategic Partnerships
Thrively

Paul currently serves as the Senior Director of Strategic Partnerships for Thrively. Thrively partners with state and local education agencies to drive sustainable improvements in student learning outcomes. Thrively supports school districts to employ evidence-based approaches to identifying students' strengths, understanding their well-being, and instilling hope among both staff and students.

Paul has 20 years of experience in public education having held senior leadership roles with U.S and international education organizations supporting accelerated learning for over 1,000,000 students across the globe. Prior to entering the private sector Paul spent more than a decade supporting education policy and program development as a Program Officer at the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, Senior Advisor for the Los Angeles Unified School District, and Executive Director of Teach for America- Los Angeles. Paul began his career as an Elementary and Middle School teacher.

Paul also serves as the Vice-Chair of the National Board of Directors for Green Dot Public Schools, a charter management organization which supports more than 14,000 students in California, Texas, and Tennessee. The U.S. Department of Education has featured Green Dot as a national leader in school turnarounds.

Paul received his B.A. from the University of Southern California and his MSc from the London School of Economics, which he attended as a Marshall Scholar.
